

Declaration of Religious Estate and Temple Rights

I, [REDACTED], a living man/woman, hereby make this solemn declaration of my estate, my temple, and my rights.

I. Living Status:

1. I am not the "person," "corporation," "fiction," or "matrix" copy represented by state-issued certificates.
2. I am the living man/woman, standing on the land, with unalienable rights endowed by the Creator.

II. Estate as Temple:

1. My body, mind, and spirit together form my estate, which is sacred and indivisible.
2. My estate is recognized as religious real property pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 247(f).
3. My body is temple; any intrusion, coercion, trespass, or non-consensual taking of bodily fluids or samples is interference with religious property and constitutes a federal crime.

III. Trust Relationship:

1. My estate is held in private trust, with me as Trustee and Beneficiary.
2. The corpus of the trust includes my living body-as-temple, my intellectual and spiritual property, my bodily fluids, and all extensions thereof.
3. Any attempt to compel, regulate, or commercialize this estate without consent is trespass upon trust.

IV. Rights Asserted:

1. Pursuant to ADRIP (2016) and UNDRIP (2007), I assert my right to self-determination and to maintain my own legal, spiritual, and cultural institutions.
2. Pursuant to the U.S. Constitution, I retain: Article I, Section 10; First Amendment; Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments.
3. Pursuant to UCC § 1-308, I reserve all rights without prejudice.

V. Notice and Standing:

1. This declaration stands as public notice and private record.
2. Silence or failure to rebut constitutes tacit acquiescence.
3. All presentments, claims, or proceedings against me must recognize this declaration and the estate as religious real property, or they are null for want of jurisdiction.

VI. Penalty Clause:

Any harm, interference, coercion, or unauthorized taking relating to this estate, including bodily liquids and samples, constitutes interference with religious real property under 18 U.S.C. § 247. Violations are subject to federal penalties including imprisonment (1 year to life depending on severity), fines, and civil damages under 42 U.S.C. §§ 1983, 1985, and 18 U.S.C. §§ 241–242. All such acts also constitute dishonor in commerce and will be converted into assets of the trust with lawful interest and liens applied.
